

Animal Welfare Program

Hello Researchers!

We're thrilled to introduce the first edition of our Animal Welfare Program Office Newsletter AWP MONTHLY BLAST. Every month, we'll be touching base with you, sharing important updates, and answering FAQs.

Have Questions? We've Got Answers!

Each month, we'll feature a section dedicated to answering your most pressing questions about animal welfare in research. To make this as helpful as possible, we need your input! We have a special link to a poll located at the bottom of this email.

Feel free to drop any specific questions you have to our email (ORCR-IACUC@arizona.edu), no matter how big or small, or totally off-the wall.

Office Hours: We're Here for YOU

Whether you prefer in-person or online interactions, we've got you covered:

In Person Office Hours: Join us every 1st Monday of the month from 1:30-3:30pm (MRB108) for a face-to-face chat. We love seeing your smiling faces and discussing all things animal welfare!

Online via Zoom: Can't make it in person? No worries! We're also available online. Join our Zoom sessions every Thursday from 10:00-11:00AM to get the same great support and answers to your questions.

July FAQ and POLL

Q: Do all my personnel really need to do the training? Do I need to do all the training?

A: Absolutely! Training is like the key to your office- without it, you're not getting in. That means everyone – including you, PI- need to complete all the training. It is a regulatory requirement after all.

If you're scratching your head about which trainings are required, reach out to our office at ORCR-IACUC@arizona.edu . We'd be happy to help you along the way!
